

Message from Destiny, 11.11.11

Hello Everyone,

This Friday we will experience a unique event. The calendar will record the date as 11.11.11.

In Australia we celebrate the 11th of November as Remembrance Day and pause for one minute's silence at the 11th hour to commemorate our fallen soldiers from World War 1.

This year the date is extremely significant for us personally as well as for the collective consciousness.

As a planet we have progressed more in the last 50 years than in the last 5000 years.

The internet revolution alone has accelerated this shift significantly. Much has been written and said about Steve Jobs and how he has changed millions of lives on a daily basis. Huge advances in communication have brought us closer together globally.

This amazing shift in evolution has brought its benefits but also its challenges.

The events of 2001 have changed our lives forever, not only in the West but also in countries like Afghanistan and Iraq. It has impacted on how we travel, and on our own sense of fear and insecurity.

The upheavals in the Middle East and Africa are daily images on our screens.

Closer to home there has been the upheaval in our financial systems starting with the GFC in 2008.

The uncertainty in the European economies and the continued muddling through in the US economy is having its own impact on our financial markets and the people who work in this industry.

While most of this change is beyond our control we need to do what we can to preserve our own sense of security, self esteem, health, satisfying relationships, quality time with our families, particularly our children and our community. We need to stay calm, focused and re evaluate our values.

On Friday, the energy of the day gives us a once in a lifetime chance to set ourselves free of past hurts, throw of past shackles and connect with our soul.

I would like to share with you the following visualisation for you to do for yourself to take advantage of the amazing energy of the day.

Close your eyes and visualise a doorway. As you stand before your doorway be aware that this binary activation code will release a dormant structure in your DNA.

This will free you from your past and awaken a unity consciousness that will empower you as never before. Scan your memory and release past hurts and feelings of separation.

Visualise light streaming forth into your heart and the hearts of every being. Know that you are part of a collective process that is birthing a new phase in human evolution. Believe in miracles and the power of love. Step through your door! This long awaited and much anticipated Portal Date takes place deep in the Scorpio phase of our year. Scorpio offers us the release of our lower ego driven nature into the transformed and purified Self. This is a very intense emotional experience so go with it and confront any old feelings of separation or disharmony and then let them go. This is a very spiritual matter as it contains the essential process to giving birth to our personal Eagle who can soar free from entanglement in our "little self" full of fear and worry.

It requires a commitment to something larger than ourselves so we may use our power to uplift the human condition.

So that's the job for November dear friends.... becoming an Eagle! - (by M. Kerr)
